

25 NATIONS IN CHURCH MEET

Brotherhood Congress Appoints Committees in Opening Session in Capital Today.

With the appointment of three big committees, the meeting of the messengers from the world's churches, the opening business session of the World Brotherhood Congress got under way this morning in the First Congregational Church, Tenth and G streets northwest.

The congress is attended by delegates from twenty-five nations, and will be in session here until Wednesday night.

GAINS FROM CATHOLICS.

Methodist Episcopal Church missions are making rapid progress in Catholic countries of Europe, William Ward, world commissioner of the World Brotherhood Congress, declared in his report before the opening session of the organization.

"Since the revolution of 1915 there has been a remarkable religious renaissance in Czechoslovakia," he said. "Thousands of people have left the Roman Catholic Church, some of them to join the Protestant religious bodies, while others have drifted into an agnostic attitude of life. Many of these people are searching with anxious hearts for the essential things of religious life. It is a situation full of danger, but let it be said at once, too full of a great hope for the future."

MISSIONS IN BELGIUM.

The Methodist Church has established missions in Belgium and the Methodist Church South in Slavic countries.

"The work of these churches," said Mr. Ward, "is likely to become the most extraordinary development of brotherhood and evangelical religion in Europe and the opening of the doors to a great union of the Anglo-Saxon and Slav races."

Three committees, appointed this noon, are:

Nominations: Rev. R. Moffat Gautrey, London; T. Howell, Rev. John Coburn, Rev. Dr. Harry, Rev. W. M. Tippet, Rev. R. V. Harlan, Ph. D., New York; Rev. W. B. Beauchamp, D. D., Nashville; Rev. Tom Sykes, London, and William Ward, London.

Finance: Dr. Samuel Zane Batten, Philadelphia; C. J. Ammon, London; J. O. McCarthy, Dr. Thomas, Rev. J. G. Shearer, Toronto, Canada; Rev. T. Albert Moore, Toronto; Rev. J. Foster Wilcox, Rev. S. W. Hughes, London; Canon L. Skep, Toronto; T. B. Macaulay, Montreal; Rev. Charles Fry, and Dr. W. M. Tippet.

CITIZENS MEET TONIGHT.

Men Here Flirt---But Girlies Coax 'Em To, Says Mrs. Van Winkle

"It's the girl's fault," said Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, director of the woman's police bureau, in answer to the charge that "the whole male population of Washington is flirting."

Thus did the woman police chief turn an unsympathetic ear to the cry for an anti-mashing campaign from the girls of Washington, as expressed by Mrs. Sarah V. Farling, who was Washington's first policewoman.

"A girl can't walk down F street these days without being insulted," declared Mrs. Farling. "Why the whole male population of Washington is flirting, the ice man, the carpenter, the chauffeur, every kind of man, and yes, even the nice man."

"Walk down F street with me," said Mrs. Van Winkle. "What do you see. A girl, a young fellow around her neck, a pocketbook suspended subjectively from her arm, and a hobbler. Of course the men flirt. And can you blame them?"

"It's a shame to abuse the men of Washington this way. Why the men of Washington are the best in the world."

"The solution of the problem is to rid the streets and movies of the unescorted girls. If a girl does not want the men to flirt with her, she should stay off the streets unescorted. It is almost impossible to prosecute because seldom will the girl press the charges against the man, and in many cases will not even give her name."

"No, I do not believe in an anti-mashing campaign for Washington. Rid the streets and movies of the unescorted girls and the problem will solve itself."

"What Washington needs is a good old-fashioned antimashing campaign,"

DELEGATES from all parts of the world are attending the convention in Washington of the World Brotherhood Federation, which held its first business session this morning. Delegates shown in the photograph, from left to right are: W. Ward, of London; R. J. Harry, of London, and Dr. T. Albert Moore, of Toronto. In the inset is Miss Lily Herber, of Christiana, also a delegate.

WANT COMPULSORY SCHOOLING UP TO 16

Washington Women and U. S. Child Labor Bureau to Push Curtis Bill.

Washington women active in civic affairs, will endeavor under the direction of the child labor bureau, to put through Congress at this session the Curtis bill, which has as its object the keeping of children in school from 7 to 16 years of age, instead of 14 years, as at present.

Mrs. E. J. Keene of the District child labor bureau in the Franklin School, who is the prime mover in the fight to eradicate child labor in Washington, declared today that eighty-three work permits have been issued to school children between the ages of 14 and 16 since the opening of the schools.

The Curtis bill, lost during the final rush at the close of the session will receive attention from the District committee of the House and Senate as soon as the session meets. It is understood Congress already is taking an interest in local child labor conditions with the result that a number of corrective measures are pending.

MERRILL TASK CONGRESS' AID

Secretary of U. S. Water Power Board Needs Hundreds of Clerks for Duties.

Permission to employ hundreds of stenographers, clerks, and other personnel to carry on the work of the Federal Water-Power Commission will be asked of Congress at the coming session by O. C. Merrill, secretary of the commission, he announced today.

RECORD POWER APPLICATIONS.

Over sixty applications, involving from two to three million horsepower, greater in amount than all the projects acted upon by the Government in the past fifteen years, have already been filed with the Federal Water Power Commission, but there is no clerical force to take care of them, according to Mr. Merrill.

Although the commission was given a large appropriation by Congress to take care of its needs, it cannot, under the present Water Power Act, use any of this money for the building up of a clerical force. At the present time the commission's clerical force consists of clerks "borrowed" from the Interior, War and Agriculture Departments, the secretaries of these three departments constituting the commission.

Among his many other duties, the Commission is required to classify some two and a half million acres of public lands within power reserves, fix annual rental charges for reimbursing the costs of Administration and for recommending the United States for the use of its lands and properties, and when a project already constructed is brought under license, the fair value of such project must be determined.

WIDE SCOPE OF WORK.

In addition to all these functions, practically all of which were exercised by the other departments, and none to a degree contemplated by the act, the Commission is authorized to conduct general investigations, power resources and of its relations to interstate and foreign commerce.

"For the performance of these manifold duties," said Mr. Merrill, "Congress gave to the Commission personnel other than its executive secretary and an engineer officer, but provided that such work as it did should be performed through the personnel of the three departments the secretaries of which constitute the commission."

"It apparently failed to realize that the personnel which had carried on the water power work in the several departments had not been exclusively employed on such work, and was, therefore, not subject to assignment to the work of this department."

Mr. Merrill stated that he would take the present borrowed clerks approximately two years or more to catch up with the work that has already piled up before the commission and that Congress will be asked at the coming session to give the commission power to spend some of its appropriation for a large clerical force.

NEW SOLDIERS IN CAMP FIND RED CROSS ON JOB

Recruits are arriving daily at Camp Humphreys, Va., according to a statement made by Field Director F. D. Doherty, of the department of military relief at Potomac division headquarters of the American Red Cross. At present there are about 700 men on the post. Of a batch of fifteen who arrived on Thursday, every one required Red Cross service, the majority being insurance and allotment cases, though there were four of the number who are not citizens.

Excellent work is being done by the Red Cross at the camp in the matter of inducing the men to start a bank account. The army authorities are giving the greatest co-operation to the field director in this respect, and each pay day the home service is being increased. Home service is being carried out to the best of the man who has domestic troubles or who has been estranged from his family.

WAITRESSES

City Club Women "Deal 'Em Off Arm" at Grill Opening.

WOULDN'T TAKE TIPS

Courageous Men Present Declare Domestic Labor Problem Solved.

When the women at the Women's City Club last night found that there were more persons present at their opening buffet supper than they'd planned for, and that there weren't enough waitresses to take care of the trade they pitched in and donned aprons and passed plates themselves.

The few more men who were brave enough to come out and join the nearly a thousand women said they didn't see why Washington women should be kicking about the shortage of domestic labor when they performed so beautifully during the opening of the club's new grill was so great that it was impossible to serve all of the guests in the grill, so it became necessary to turn the assembly room upstairs into an impromptu dining room.

Mrs. Marie Moore Provost and Mrs. Maude Howell Smith and others carried trays upstairs and down stairs, and performed all the other duties of regular waitresses—and oh, joy! there was no tipping to be done.

MISS MARTHA MORRIS, one of the Washington girls who has been bitten by the "movie bug" and whose good looks may give her the honor of appearing as a movie star for three whole days at the American Legion carnival in celebration of Armistice Day.

QUEEN

Of Washington Beauties To Be Chosen by American Legion.

TO STAR IN MOVIES.

Hundreds of Candidates and Judges Will Have No Sinecure.

The chap of theatrical and dramatic fame who was a "Prince for a Night," had nothing on some Washington girl—yet to be selected—who will be given an opportunity to reign as a movie star for three whole days.

The Washington posts of the American Legion who are planning the three-day celebration of Armistice Day at the baseball park November 11, 12 and 13, hold out no false hopes for this prospective movie queen.

She is to be selected from the pretty girls of Washington only, to star in the movie which will be made at the ball park during the celebration, and which will be supervised by regular "movie people."

Hundreds of girls have made application to the Legionaries to be featured in the movie. Miss Martha Morris of Iowa Circle, who has taken part in many amateur theatricals, is a popular candidate.

Captain Tim Jordan of the 312th Machine Gun Battalion, is arranging many athletic stunts for the three-day celebration.

CHARGE RED CROSS SHUNS RISH NEEDS

Women Pickets for U. S. War Aims Here to Press for Relief of Stricken Erin.

Charging the American Red Cross has failed to heed the cry of distress arising out of Ireland, representatives of the American Woman Pickets for the Enforcement of America's War Aims, who are here to intervene in behalf of the Irish people, are demanding an explanation.

Mrs. Gertrude Cliss, leader of the pickets, intends to press the question with some satisfactory answer forthcoming from the Red Cross headquarters. Conditions in Ireland today, she declares, call for aid from the Red Cross which is lending assistance in practically every other prostrate country.

Charging that the United States is being "diplomatically dragged" by Lloyd-George, Mrs. Cliss contended that the United States is in a position in Cuba in 1918 then it should not longer ignore present conditions in Ireland.

"In 1920 after having emptied the sacred blood to uphold the ideals of democracy, freedom and love, and incidentally to save the British empire from defeat," she said, "we behold England committing atrocities in Ireland, on the front door step of America which make any atrocity in history seem mild in comparison."

'LEAGUE OF NATIONS' IS TOPIC FOR FRENCH CLUB

Mrs. Barnett and Senator Gore Chief Speakers Tonight.

"The League of Nations" and kindred subjects will form the principal topic of discussion by Mrs. George Barnett, wife of General Barnett, of the marine corps, and Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma, at the meeting of the French Club of the Washington Salon Thursday night at its headquarters in the McLean building, 1517 H street.

Capt. Paul V. Collins will speak on "Frenchmen I Have Met." He was in France with the American army. Miss Marie A. Menzel, assisted at the piano by Miss Margaret L. Menzel, will render violin solos and Miss Estelle Murray, with Miss Decilla O'Dea at the piano, will entertain with Oriental dances. Miss Ruth Bailey, a talented young artist from New Hampshire, will present a number of piano solo selections. Rudolph de Zapp, the president of the club will be in charge.

D. C. HEADS IN SCHOOL ROW

Sixth Street Residents File Statement With Hendrick on Park View Controversy.

The District Commissioners were brought into the Park View School controversy today when the committee appointed Saturday night by residents of Sixth street, gave them a statement in the case supporting their side of the issue.

It is probable the commissioners will take no action until after the meeting tomorrow evening at the Park View School, when the Park View Citizens' Association and residents on Sixth street between Newton street and Otis place, will air their troubles.

HENDRICK GETS STATEMENT.

The statement was delivered to Commissioner Hendrick this afternoon. It says:

"All kinds of rumors are rife as to reasons behind the demolition of houses on Sixth street, and a number of questions will be asked the citizens' association tomorrow night bearing upon these rumors. The property owners who are now opposed to the demolition of these houses have never been asked for their view in the matter, and no effort was ever made to make a bona-fide investigation to learn just what the residents of Park-view thought of the move which involves not only the demolition of seventeen houses, but also a time when Washington is overcrowded and homes are very scarce. It would make homeless 100 residents of Washington. Those who desire to wreck their homes have admitted that no personal objections could be made to the persons whose homes they desire torn down."

PROBE DELAYED STREET WORK.

The action of the school authorities and the Civil Association in failing to make an effort to have the street improved also made the subject of an attack. It was said that when the committee attempted to have the street resurfaced, it learned that one of the reasons why nothing would be done with this unpaved section was because the school would eventually take over the property.

George H. Russell, president of the Park View Citizens' Association, said today that the members of the committee, even though they are not members of the association, will be admitted to the meeting tomorrow night as they are "interested parties." He said one of the leaders of the agitation has never been a member of the association and never patronized the Community store, which is also the object of attack.

GET TEN QUESTIONS.

After the meeting of the Sixth street committee Saturday night, in which filed a petition, the committee will be asked to submit ten questions which will be submitted to the citizens' association tomorrow night. Russell said he and other officers of the association, who happened to be at his home at the time, answered nine of the ten questions. He was unable to answer the tenth, because they did not have the books of the treasurer with them.

HURREY AND PARKS LEAVE UNCLE SAM

Internal Revenue and Income Tax Officials Will Form Private Partnership.

C. B. Hurrey, deputy commissioner of internal revenue, and Franklin C. Parks, assistant head of the income tax unit, have resigned, and after November 1 will be associated in private business.

Mr. Hurrey, who is one of the most popular Government officials in Washington, entered the service of the bureau November 1, 1917, as supervisor of business co-operation, a position created under the revenue act of October, 1917.

His duties were to organize among business men, bankers, corporations and the business world generally co-operative movements for the collection of taxes. He was promoted to deputy commissioner March 12, 1920, in charge of the division of accounts, supplies and equipment, stamps, and educational information.

Mr. Parks entered the bureau as research expert and executive assistant to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue February 1, 1919, and on March 1, 1920, was promoted to assistant head of the income tax unit. He is an expert in the compilation of Government reports. He came to Washington in 1910 from Green Bay, Wis.

Women Not Scarce, Only Particular.

There are just as many working women in the country as there ever were—and many thousands more. The people have trouble getting female help is that women are more particular, and don't have to take the least desirable jobs. But let the job be satisfactory and let it be advertised in The Times, and you will find the result. Martin W. Hyson Co. recently advertised in The Times for a woman to do general housework. They received 100 replies. They will always receive good results from Times ads. So will you. Phone yours to Main 5200.

NAT C. WILDMAN, executive of the Deale Advertising Society and vice president of the Baltimore Ad Club, who will address the Washington Ad Club as a feature of the dinner and entertainment to be given tomorrow night at the Dewey Hotel.

"ELIZA"

Will Cross the Ice at Ad Men's Dinner Tuesday Night.

'TEMPLE OF JUSTICE'

Is One-act Drama on Boards for Fete at Dewey Hotel.

"The wonderful court scene"—"Eliza crossing the ice"—"The heartless district attorney"—you'll see them all at the dinner and entertainment to be given at the Dewey Hotel tomorrow night by the Washington Ad Club.

There'll be lots of fun and lots of pep. That's what the official bulletin advertising the affair says. And it elaborates on the assertion to this extent:

"There will be a presentation of that stupendous production, 'The Temple of Justice,' a drama in one act. Produced under the personal direction of Henry Jason Breslau, manager of Eribacher's, and the world's most famous dramatic impresario."

The dinner will begin at 7:30 o'clock and if you take the word of those in charge—the fun will begin at 2 o'clock tomorrow night. The magician, is on the program for a short performance, and he'll show the members of the club and their guests how to play rabbits out of hats, and everything. There'll be an orchestra and several performers from R. F. Keith's and the Gayety Theaters.

Nat C. Wildman, executive of the Deale Advertising Society and vice president of the Baltimore Ad Club, will speak. Others who will make addresses are: John R. Wiers, of the Deale Advertising Society, Company, Baltimore, and J. W. Mallin, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association.

NEW PISTOL RANGE FOR COPS PLANNED

Commissioners Want Police Expert With Weapons of Attack and Defense.

A revolver range for members of the Metropolitan Police Department force is under consideration by the District Commissioners. The range at Poli's Theater is now being used by the Government for storage purposes.

"I think a range is highly desirable," said Commissioner J. Thilman Hendrick today. The movement to have a police range came as a result of the recent shooting of Detective Sergeant Alligood. Alligood is one of the numerous members of the department who have been shot by bandits during the past year.

A policeman or a detective, if allowed the use of a revolver, should be able to shoot it with accuracy," Commissioner Hendrick said. At a recent meeting of the Home Defense League the range was discussed. The league is endeavoring to have one established in the very near future.

Major Harry L. Gessford, superintendent of police, is in favor of a range.

Modern Dentistry of T. J. Wright

Has reached a point little dreamed of by our forefathers. Extraction of a tooth without pain was looked upon as an utter impossibility (so much dreaded by all) is being accomplished daily at this place.

It has taken 19 years to reach this point. What a realization what it is today. Year after year of co-operation with the highest plane, has so improved our operations with the Wright system that our patients are free from pain and free from the excruciating practice would excite their contempt.

PAYNE SNEEPS CLERKS' UNION

Elected President of Local No. 2 by 797 Majority Over William J. Hendricks.

Burd W. Payne has been elected President of Local No. 2, Federal Employees' Union, defeating his nearest competitor, William J. Hendricks, by 797 votes. According to a totaling of the ballots this morning, Payne received 1,955 votes, Hendricks 1,161 votes, and W. S. Douglas 37.

DOUGLAS NOT A CANDIDATE.

While Payne's election was predicted, it was expected that Hendricks would run a closer second than he did. Douglas was not a candidate for the office, and the votes he received were more or less complimentary from his friends in the Navy Department, where he had been strongly urged to enter the field.

Payne will head the biggest Federal employees' organization in the United States, Local No. 2 having a membership of approximately 20,000, out of a total membership in the National Federation of Federal Employees of nearly 100,000 distributed over more than 300 locals.

He takes his seat as the union in about to enter the most important year in its history, with reclassification and other big issues on the program. Payne campaigned on a conservative platform, which a majority of the members believe must be the guiding principle if Government employees are to win concessions from Congress.

Payne has been serving as president for the last several months filling the unexpired term of John S. Beach, who assumed charge of the new retirement division of the Government. Hendricks, who is president of the G. P. O. branch of the Federal Employees' Union, has long been identified with the movement of the Government employees for better salaries and working conditions.

DR. G. A. HILL HONORED.

Dr. George A. Hill, of the naval observatory, was elected second vice president of Local No. 2 with a total of 1,725 votes, defeating Theodore H. Hook, who was elected first vice president of the Interior Department, the present incumbent, by 485 votes. R. J. Quinn, of the adjutant general's office, War Department, received sixty-six votes for the office.

Payne for the other offices had not yet been totaled this morning, but likely will be announced tomorrow.

COLUMBUS DAY TO BE OBSERVED HERE

Italian Catholic Society and Knights of Columbus Will Hold Ceremonies.

Columbus Day will be celebrated in Washington tomorrow with celebrations under the auspices of the Italian Catholic Society of Washington and the Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus.

The Fourth Degree, which is the patriotic degree, will hold the exemplification of the degree at their hall at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. About 150 candidates, from Washington, Baltimore and Alexandria, will be initiated.

A big ball will be held by the delegates at the Willard Hotel at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night. It is expected that 600 members will attend. Admiral and Mrs. W. S. Benson will be honor guests. The degree team will be out on the Washington assembly.

Charles W. Darr, master of the degree, is now in Porto Rico, where a number of new candidates are being initiated. In his absence, the W. B. in charge of the Italian Catholic Society, William S. Auman, of the Baltimore delegation, and George Evans.

The Right Rev. A. Cosse, auditor of the Apostolic delegation, Dr. G. E. Cappel, social delegate of the Italian government; and Dr. C. E. McGuire, secretary general of the International High Commission, will speak at the celebration, scheduled for 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Sixth street northwest, under the auspices of the Italian Catholic Society. The boys' band of the Holy Rosary Church will play.

Leo A. Rovera will deliver an address on the work of the Knights of Columbus at St. John's College at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.
